INCORPORATION PAPERS OF HENDRICK REALTY CO.

Headed by P. E. Hendrick, Who Sold Kitemaug Property Last May—Will Take Over Mowry Property—John Byrne Buys Valuable Brooklyn Hold-

Among the documents relating to corporations, filed with the secretary of state, is the following of local interest:

The Hendrick Reality company of Bridgeport: certificate of incorporation; capital stock, $50,000. The purpose of the company is to engage in the real estate business. The incorporators are Philip E. Hendrick and Charles F. Thayer of Norwich and John J. Phelan of Bridgeport.

The company has not yet organized, but will deal in real estate throughout the state and in New York.

The company has not yet organized, but will deal in real estate throughout the state and in New York city, states Mr. Hendrick. The company intends to purchase the Mowry property in Broadway, although the deeds have not yet been passed, and wil probably pick up some other local offerings.

Mr. Hendrick of Taftville, for whom the company is named, sold the Kitemaug property last May for John F. Byrne to the Arwin Realty Co. of Brocklyn, N. Y., for the sum of $15.000. The purchasers are Hebrews and it is stated that they intend to build on the land probably next season. There are seven buildings on the property, which contains about 65 acres. Following that sale, Mr. Byrne purchased four apartment houses in Brooklyn, N. Y., at a cost of $125,000, the deal beling put through by Mr. Hendrick. This Brooklyn property is located at Prospect park, and the houses are new ones jus completed and will bring in about $15,000 a year.

Thomas P. W. Hull.

Thomas P. W. Hull.

The many friends of Thomas P. W. Hull will learn with regret of his death, which occurred last Saturday in Boston from tuberculosis after an illness of some time.

The decsaxed was born in North Stonington July 17, 1852, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hull. He was a bright young man and branched out in newspaper work, being city editor of The Norwich Bulletin in 1872. From this city he went to Hartford, where he was on the editorial staff of the Courant for some time, later becoming a Washington correspondent for a Boston paper. He was afterwards private secretary to Ben Perley Poore, a Washington correspondent, and finally located in Boston, where he was connected with several different papers.

The deceased was a bright writer and possessed a genial and pleasant disposition, making many friends here during his few years' residence.

The remains were taken to North Stonington Wednesday, where the burial took place. The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. William B. Hull, and a brother, Latham Hull, of North Stonington.

Stolen Horse Recovered.

A horse stolen from the barn of Jacob Kapian at Oakdale July 1 was recovered Thursday night in East Lyme. The horse was in Indian woods. The animal was along the highway July 4, grazing, and was taken to the woods by the finder and kept there until last night. Sheriff Tubbs in the meantime had been notified, of the finding of the horse and communicated with Kaplan with the result that the horse was identified and recovered. A buggy and harness stolen, with the horse are still missing, but a search of the woods is to be made in the hope of securing the property.

About the last day of June, Kaplan hired a Pole who came to him seeking employment. The man worked for about three days when he disappeared. Kaplan's horse, wagon, harness and a dog disappearing with him. The dog returned home in about a week but no trace could be obtained of the horse.

Block Island were entertained by the daring work of Jack Gallivan of this city, head beliboy at the Spring house, who was on his way to the bathing beach. A horse becoming frightened had started madly up the street when Gallivan made a leap and succeeded in catching the bridle. To steered the startled animal headlong into a nearby building, where both horse and man were precipitated, with Gallivan on top.

The crowd applauded the brave act of Gallivan, whose name is on the tongue of all the visitors at Block Island. He undoubtedly save some of the pedestrians from injuries which might have happened had the horse been allowed to go on his way unhindered.

The only damage done was a broken shaft and Gallivan's bruised knuckles and a slight shaking up.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Perfection of moral character is the eternal ideal toward which a loving God is unerringly conducting the human race. Faith in the conquering potency of goodness, love as the mightiest of all motives, the soul built for progress through battle against and mal conquest of all opposition included in the term evil these are the ideas and this the conflict which filled Mr. Browning's being with greet interest in his fellow men and made him jubilant and exultant in contemplation of the promised outcome of God's malestic plans. The leading ideas and principles of his poetry are the old ones of the ages which have unceasing interest for man. What measure of fall-ure or success has attended his honest effort to ald in solving the profound-est problems may not be accurately determined. That he has done much excellent work I am fully persuaded. Among his most valuable contributions to the literature of power I would rank his influence in deepening the conviction of candid scholars that at the heart of the universe there is crystalize beauty, infinite goodness, eternal harmony; and that as all roads once led to Rome, so all right paths of investigation must lead ultimately to that splendid center where omniscent mind, absolute truth and omnipotent will are enthroned in the loving personality of our true God.
